

The Wage Justice Center

- A non-profit law office
- Located at 3250 Wilshire Blvd. 13th Floor, Los Angeles, CA. 90010
- Represents low wage workers with unpaid wages and other labor law claims
- Clients are mostly immigrant workers in the underground economy in highly vulnerable industries to wage theft such as car wash, construction, garment, janitorial, port trucking and restaurants

Areas of Legal Practice

- Employment law (i.e. wage and hour claims, state court civil litigation)
- Enforcement of wage judgments, including liens and sheriff levies
- Post-judgment litigation, including bankruptcy, fraudulent transfer and alter ego litigation
- Special pre-judgment remedies, including mechanics' liens and writs of attachment

For Law Student, Undergraduate and Attorney Volunteers, Interns and Externs

(The type of work assigned depends on the level of time commitment by the volunteer)

- Legal research
- Asset investigation
- Client intake
- Drafting pleadings
- Propounding or responding to discovery
- Preparing liens and levy documents

Contact: Jay Shin, jay@wagejustice.org or (213) 273-8400